

Services
Indy

Multi-Media

Shopping Page

Weekend

Open Houses

Copyright © 2008

The Laguna Beach Independent All Rights Reserved

Newspaper web site content management software and services

DMCA Notices

Town Crier

November 21, 2008

Search Archives:  Go

Store Snares a 'Road Mouse' for the Internet Fast Lane

Even as the auto industry is looking for a government bailout and auto dealers are hunting for customers, the owner of My Laguna Office hopes a new fourwheeled gadget will have car lovers racing to his door.

The office supply, shipping, and Internet store on Broadway is one of the first to receive the 2009 model RoadMice, a wireless computer mouse in the guise of a muscle car.

Tom Williams of My Laguna Office was smitten when inventor Bob Munley, of Dana Point's 4Door Media, came in to ship a sample.

"I immediately fell in love with them," said Williams, who received his first shipment of "mice" kitted out as replica Mustangs, Corvettes, Camaros, Chargers and police cars. A red Corvette was the first to sell.

"Once you take one for a test drive, you will never go back to that plain old mouse," he promised.

And no oil changes.

Louis Le Hernandez of Laguna Beach at one of the computers, "Driving" his Mustang GT Mouse. "This is great," says, Hernandez, "I am editing my movie and I just love the feel of this mouse."